

INDUCTION POLICY
2021/22

Induction is the process of familiarizing a new employee with the municipality, their terms and conditions of employment, the people working for the municipality, their terms and conditions of employment and the policies and procedures governing their employment

1.

PREAMBLE

Council realizes that in order to maintain effective and efficient service delivery, all employees must be taken through a comprehensive induction process.

Okhahlamba Local Municipality commits itself to assist new employees to integrate into the culture of the organization and to acquaint themselves with details and the requirements of the job as quickly as possible.

The induction process will take place by means of a formal induction checklist which will guide the HR functionaries and Directors of Departments or delegates for the purpose of employee orientation.

The induction checklist is attached as per Annexure A.

2. PURPOSE

To integrate all employees into the organizational culture of Okhahlamba Local Municipality. To familiarize them with Council activities and to guide, train, counsel and evaluate all employees who have been newly appointed, promoted, transferred or demoted so that a harmonious working environment can be created.

3. OBJECTIVES OF INDUCTION PROCESS

3.1 To make a new employee more rapidly productive. When a new employee joins an organization, he/she is unfamiliar with the way in which the work must be done, how the organization functions and how to act to fit into the organization effectively.

3. OBJECTIVES OF INDUCTION PROCESS (continue)

3.2 To reduce fear and insecurity

Most new employees experience a degree of fear about whether they will succeed in the job. Proper induction can eliminate the new employee's initial insecurity and fear, so that he/she can address the new task with a positive attitude.

3.3 The reduction of labour turnover

Labour turnover is particularly high during the first phase of the employee's period of service. If the employee is allowed to build up negative feelings towards the task during this time, then the employee can be induced to leave the service of the organization.

An effective induction programme can make a positive contribution towards limiting labour turnover to a minimum during the initial phase of the new employee's career.

3.4 Helping to create realistic employee expectations

During the induction programme, new employees must be taught exactly what the organization expects of them and what they in turn can expect from the organization.

An induction programme can make an important contribution towards toning down expectations and basing them on reality.

3.5 Creating job satisfaction and a positive attitude towards the employer.

The induction programme can contribute towards the immediate development of a positive attitude towards the employer and job satisfaction on the part of the new employee. Induction ensures that company policies and other employment practices are communicated face to face to the new employee.

4. SCOPE OF THE INDUCTION TRAINING

Induction training shall be conducted for all employees of the Municipality as follows:

4.1 General organization induction which affect all employees within the organization including new employees.

4.2 Departmental induction which will be tailored to the new employee's specific department and job.

5. RESPONSIBILITY FOR INDUCTION

The following components will be involved in the induction process:

5.1 Human Resources Department

The Human Resources Department will be responsible for issues such as the employment contract, compensation, Medical scheme, Pension funds, Group Schemes and the development and monitoring of the success of the induction checklist.

5.2 The Director of the Department

It is the responsibility of the Director of Department to meet all new employees and briefly explain to them the role and responsibilities of the particular department within the organization.

5.3 The immediate supervisor

The immediate supervisor must ensure that the employees in the section receive all the information necessary to enable them to function as efficiently and effectively as possible. This will include the introduction of new employees to co-workers, explaining job duties and responsibilities as well as procedures, rules and regulations and also taking the employees on a familiarization tour of the workplace.

6. BENEFICIARIES OF THE INDUCTION PROCESS

There are three categories of employees who will benefit from Induction process as follows

6.1 NEW EMPLOYEES

It is vital that all new employees should receive proper induction training.

6.2 TRANSFERRED/PROMOTED EMPLOYEES

Existing employees who have been transferred or promoted within the organization will receive induction training, especially if the transfer or promotion involves a significant change of environment.

6.3 ALL CURRENT EMPLOYEES

An induction training involving all current employees shall take place from time to time to disseminate information relating to new policies that have been formulated and other policies that have been amended.

7. DURATION OF INDUCTION

Induction training shall be conducted for a period not exceeding two days for HR induction and two days for departmental induction.

The induction period can be extended for a longer period if the need arises to ensure that new employees are properly inducted. Existing employees shall be subjected to induction process on an ongoing basis depending on availability of new or amended policies and programmes.

8. EVALUATION OF INDUCTION PROCESS

The following quantitative measures shall be carried out by the HR Functionaries after a period of six months to evaluate the success of the induction process

- (i) Labour turnover statistics
- (ii) Sickness and absenteeism rates
- (iii) Questionnaires and exit interview
